j. Sex Offense Information

In the event that a sex offense occurs at Georgian Court University, the GCU Office of Security is to be contacted for investigation at extension 2611 or 732.987.2611. GCU Security personnel will contact the Lakewood Police Department at 732.363.0200 or 911 in emergency situations. Lakewood Police Department will be the lead law enforcement agency for investigating the criminal offense. Lakewood Police Department will follow departmental and County Prosecutor's Office policy in preservation of evidence. The Office of Student Development at extension 2601 or 732.987.2601, and Counseling Center at extension 2680 or 732.987.2680, will be contacted to assist/aid the victim of the criminal offense. The report will be disseminated to the Dean of Students and the Director of Counseling.

k. Alcohol Policy

Georgian Court University fully supports the New Jersey Beverage Law, i.e.:

1. Individuals younger than 21 years of age may not purchase, possess, or consume alcohol. Only those of legal drinking age may purchase, possess, or consume alcohol.
2. The Attorney General has defined "public places" as including residence hall entrances and lobbies, lounges, hallways, and stairways, or common grounds of a college or university to which the general public by specific or implied invitation has access and in which an individual could have no reasonable expectation of privacy. Alcoholic beverages shall not be possessed or consumed in any outdoor area, hallway, stairwell, laundry room, or any other common area of the residence halls.
3. Transporting of open alcoholic beverages to persons under legal drinking age is a serious criminal offense. Individuals can be held both criminally and civilly (i.e. law suits for damages and negligence) liable for the injury or death of any person resulting directly or indirectly from the distribution of alcoholic beverages by them to a person under the legal drinking age.
4. The sale or distribution of alcoholic beverages to persons under the legal drinking age is a serious criminal offense. Individuals can be held both criminally and civilly (i.e. law suits for damages and negligence) liable for the injury or death of any person resulting directly or indirectly from the distribution of alcoholic beverages by them to a person under the legal drinking age.
5. Alcohol-related incidents result in a $50.00 fine for the first offense; second offense is $100.00 and requires counseling.

l. Drug Policy

Illegal drugs and/or drug paraphernalia are forbidden on campus. All drugs and/or drug paraphernalia may be confiscated by campus security officers and/or Georgian Court University officials and turned over to the Lakewood Police Department. Students can be held accountable if a professional staff member determines the odor of marijuana is present. Students who violate this policy will be subject to disciplinary action and/or prosecution under applicable local, state, and federal laws.

Georgian Court University has a zero tolerance policy for illicit drug use. All violations of this policy are subject to possible suspension/expulsion from campus housing and/or other disciplinary action.

Please note that misconduct while under the influence of alcohol and/or other drugs is viewed as a violation of the alcohol and drug policy and will be disciplined as such.

Georgian Court University fully supports the following policy regarding drugs/narcotics:

1. The use, possession, or sale of legal and/or illegal drugs or narcotics by a student will subject that individual to disciplinary action and/or legal prosecution under local, state, and federal statutes. The decision rendered will be determined by the circumstances of the student's involvement.
2. Georgian Court University makes available the facilities of its Health and Counseling Centers for students who may have involved themselves in the misuse of drugs or alcohol and wish to seek aid in altering this pattern of behavior.
3. Georgian Court University will promote and encourage programs designed to explore the problems of drug and alcohol abuse. Failure to comply with civil laws with respect to stimulants, depressants, narcotics, and other drugs also subjects students to disciplinary action. Georgian Court University reserves the right, in the event of a serious violation or criminal conviction in this matter, to terminate student status at this institution.

The use of illicit drugs is associated with many health risks, including hepatitis, HIV, addiction, and impaired ability to function. Alcohol abuse is associated with impaired coordination, decreased mental alertness, and many other health risks. Health risks of illicit drug use and alcohol abuse increase with prolonged use.

m. Emergency Response and Evacuation Procedures

If you observe an emergency condition of any kind, call Security at extension 2611 or 732.987.2611. Security will summon the appropriate support systems, including police, fire, ambulance, and hazmat services as needed.

Dial 911 only if you observe a situation that is life threatening or has the potential for severe injury to occur; then notify Security at extension 2611 or 732.987.2611 (all campus red phones connect directly to Security). There are 18 blue light emergency phones and 72 red in-building emergency phones on campus.

In the case of a residence hall emergency, you must also contact a member of the residence life staff at extension 2533 or 732.987.2533 (day) or 732.616.2499 (evening).

The university uses Connect-Ed, an emergency communication system, to notify members of the campus community via phone, text messaging, etc. of emergency situations.

Georgian Court University will test its emergency communication system and its emergency plans at least annually.

The designated building marshals will direct evacuation procedures for each campus building.

1. When a fire alarm sounds, the building marshal will assist persons in their assigned area to evacuate the building using the nearest exit.
2. Instructors should collect their class list and escort students out of the building following the instructions of the building marshal.
3. Once outside, you must report to one of the building marshals in the assembly area for the building.
4. If a person with a disability is present, assist the individual in finding a safe refuge (e.g., balcony, lower floor, etc.). Immediately notify the building marshal, security, police, or fire official of that location so that they can act on the situation.
5. When the marshal determines that everyone has evacuated his or her assigned area, he/she will leave the building.
6. When outside the building, the building marshal will assist the security officers in keeping all unauthorized persons from blocking fire lanes or from re-entering buildings. No one may re-enter the building until permission is received from the building marshal, security, police or fire officials (even if the alarm stops ringing).
7. If the university is declared closed, evacuate the University via routes designated by Security or police officers after logging in with your building marshal.

Georgian Court University will test its emergency communication system and its emergency plans at least annually.

n. Missing Student Notification Policy

Georgian Court University has three residence halls in which students reside. In the event a student is reported missing, the following actions are to ensue.

A search will be conducted by university officials (security, residential life, and student development). If foul play is suspected, the Lakewood Police Department will be contacted.
